MEMORANDUM

To: Faculty and Staff

From: Lawrence Schovanec, President

Date: June 29, 2021

Re: President's Leadership Institute

The eighth Annual President's Leadership Institute (PLI) will get underway this fall and offers opportunities for faculty and staff to engage with administrative leadership and learn the tools and styles that comprise leadership in higher education. I invite those interested to apply and ask supervisors to encourage their faculty and staff to take advantage of this opportunity.

Following seven successful years of this program, our mission, which is to "empower faculty and staff with a leadership foundation for the next century guided by principles of engagement, innovation, inclusiveness, and impact," is strengthened by those who have passed through this program. Texas Tech is fortunate to have an ambitious and talented faculty and staff on campus and we are looking forward to furthering leadership opportunities for this year's class.

Each year, 20 aspiring leaders across campus are selected to participate in this innovative program and afterward these faculty and staff return to their colleges and departments and begin demonstrating the skillset and traits of leadership. If you are interested in strengthening your leadership skills, please consider this opportunity. We will begin accepting applications July 1 and continue through August 16. More information regarding this institute, along with application materials can be found at the President's Leadership Institute website.
