

TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY

DECEMBER COMMENCEMENT UPDATE

Dear Texas Tech University community,

As you know, COVID-19 cases in the City of Lubbock continue to climb, and this surge has put our local healthcare system under extreme levels of stress. The next few days and weeks are critical, and each of us must do our part to slow the spread of this virus.

Our in-person commencement exercises are still planned to proceed as scheduled. We have taken extensive measures to ensure safety protocols are in place to minimize risk. Nevertheless, we must be prepared to respond if conditions in our city continue to deteriorate, and local health authorities recommend we not proceed with in-person commencement exercises. We know that many of you are making arrangements for family members and friends to attend, so it is essential that you remain in communication with them regarding this ongoing situation in our local community.

A virtual ceremony will occur regardless of whether in-person ceremonies are held and will provide a safe option for both you and your loved ones.

We will provide regular communications and updates regarding our in-person commencement schedule with you directly. Please stay safe and vigilant and continue to follow all the guidance that we have outlined in the Texas Tech Commitment.

Sincerely,

Amiee Dixon

Commencement Coordinator
